Dear Industry member,

RE: STEEL DETAILING CAPACITY

As you would be aware, the construction industry in Australia has been booming during the past few years and there has been an unparalleled demand for professionals and tradespersons to service the ongoing expansion of Mining and Commercial projects.

The boom time has certainly stretched the resources of all businesses within Australia including the Steel Detailing sector.

As a consequence of this, many construction companies elected to source fabrication and detailing from offshore suppliers to assist them to meet construction schedules.

The Boom is now over, the market is slowing and it is easier to source local resources for projects. However, it needs to be recognized that during recent years, Steel Detailing companies have endeavoured to increase capacity to meet demand and have been proactive by training additional personnel to assist local industry and provide capacity for the future.

Steel Detailers in Australia, like many other suppliers now have capacity available to service Australian construction needs and would be pleased to assist your company in the construction of the infrastructure projects currently planned for Australia.

Australian steel detailing companies are ranked among the best in the world and utilize the latest technologies to produce drawings and data for designers, constructors and fabricators to deliver excellent outcomes for projects.

The Australian Institute of Steel Detailers is the representative body for Steel Detailers throughout Australia and recommends that you consider members of the AISD for quality work and sustainable scheduling when selecting partners for your next project.

Sincerely,

Philip Shanks
Secretary
